1. Attended a meeting of the Project Review Committee at which it was tentatively agreed that the Deputy Directors for Intelligence and Support would make presentations on their over-all programs to the Committee next Spring.

2. Gordon Stewart telephoned to advise me that Bob Amory had obtained Mr. Dulles' approval to enter [REDACTED] on duty as a civilian in the Office of Scientific Intelligence at the grade GS-16 level. He was quite unhappy about this since [REDACTED] is currently receiving about a grade GS-14 salary. He was even more unhappy about the highhanded manner in which it had been handled without consultation with the Office of Personnel or the Supergrade Review Board. I told him that if the Director had already approved of the action he should process it but that I thought it would be advisable to table this general subject for discussion at the next meeting of the Supergrade Review Board, especially inasmuch as he (Gordon) understands that the DD/I has two other supergrades which it expects to bring on duty around the end of the year.

3. Lunched with General Cabell, [REDACTED], and others. We discussed [REDACTED] very briefly, but nothing of any great significance was covered.
